One day our kaleidoscopic contemporary tells what 'a party slave" The Herald is, and next day it tells how indifferently The Herald treats its boket and party platform. Our neighbor should steady itself against a lamppost before proceeding further.

"Was it to secure the man who would most ably represent Utah in the congress of the United States" that Mr. Roberts was nominated? Was that the reason Mr. Eldredge was nominated? By the way, which would make the abler representative in the opinion of

That was a fearful storm in the West Indies. The artillery of heaven and the broadsides fired from the burricane destroyed more homes and reduced more buildings to ruins than the Vesuvius and all the battleships of the American navy. Three hundred lives were lost and 20,000 people rendered homeless on the island of St. Vincent aione. The sea about is full of wreckage and the land is full of groans.

Our morning contemporary prides itself on two things: Its ability to prevaricate and its telent for vituperation. As an exhibition of the former it says that The Herald "repudlates its platform." The Herald endorses every principle set forth in the Democratic state platform. The only objection is to its construction. It deals too much In circumlocution like a Tribune editorial.

The Herald favors the free and unlimited colnage of silver and gold at the ratio of 16 to 1, independent of the action of any other nation. It believes in a double monetary standard, in hi nillism, if you please. Now, will the Provo Enquirer answer: First, as to whether or not it believes in the gold standard? Second, as to whether or not it considers the silver plank in the Republican state platform a repudiation of the policy of the administration?

The Ogden Standard of last evening quotes approvingly from the Rock; Mountain News. Here is an editorial it must have overlooked; "The re-election of Mr. Wolcott, or the choice of any other man of his political views to represent Colorado would be a disastrops blow at bimetallism and that it is the duty of every silver party to concur in such measures as will make the calamity impossible.
